13. Chair's Report: Please proved a narrative of the past year's activity/successes/challenges *

I'm very grateful for all of the efforts and hard work put forward by the local section volunteers, and have been honored to serve in the role of chair. The first orders of business were: a) to establish a five-year strategy for the section, b) shift the operating rhythm of the section so that financial planning and budgeting is considered earlier, making it more transparent, and c) generate a spending plan to bring our cash reserve into line with other non-profit reserve levels. Overall, 2021 was a good year for the Georgia Local Section. As a team we successfully shifted our business operating rhythm and created a new committee to make budgeting more efficient and transparent. We also generated and executed on a spending plan to put our large reserve to good use in the community at a time of need. Working with the executive committee throughout the year, we agreed to expand our St. Elmo Brady & Percy Julian scholarship programs, our Project SEED initiative participation, and increased allowances for speaker events in support of our ChemLuminary Award winning MAC & WCC programs. The spending plan now in place should bring our existing reserve into line with the non-profit Good Accounting Practice reserve guidance of 60% of annual budget within about 10 years; in the meantime, we hope to bring a little extra help to some who could use the support. Further, the leadership developed, articulated, and gained consensus to execute a five-year strategy for the section, including Vision & Mission statements, Goals, Strategies, and Metrics, with designated champions for each initiative. All goals in our five year strategy not only align with ACS mission and vision, but also speak to four out of the seven ACS 2020 Change Drivers, viz.: change drivers “Accelerating Automation of Chemistry” and “Strained Pipeline and Changing Workplace” are connected and mitigated by our goal of “Facilitate growth and development of our stakeholder audiences by identifying, prioritizing, and addressing their needs.” The ACS Change Drivers of: “Chemistry and Social Responsibility”, and “Scientific Doubt and Polarization” are supported and mitigated by the section goals: “Increase awareness, understanding, and appreciation of chemistry and science for our communities through educational and outreach programming.” and “Increase member awareness, engagement and perceived value of the local section through better communication and targeted programs”. The 2021 executive committee has collectively provided the section with a clear vision to align with moving through 2022 and on to 2027. OTHER MAJOR INITIATIVES INCLUDED: DEIR WORKSHOPS: Innovative in both scope and depth, a first of a kind program initiative was organized by secretary Tyler Kinner as a series of four expert-facilitated workshops focused on advancing conversations relating to DEIR. A fifth meeting constituted an internal post action review of the pilot series. Target audiences included leaders, section members, and the larger metro Atlanta chemistry community. Topics included microaggressions, implicit bias, communicating across boundaries, and intersectionality. The workshops provided a common vocabulary for discussing DEIR, helped to communicate DEIR as a local section core value, and created momentum around increasing the inclusiveness of our section through collective and individual member actions. Three evening sessions and one "lunch and learn" were held, as well as a final facilitated conversation just for local section... leaders to reflect and discuss DEIR. This event was new to the section and other non-Georgia Local Section ACS volunteers with whom we interfaced during the planning stages of the series. With the events of 2020 and the continued advancement of DEIR within ACS and the science community, our local section wanted to lead by engaging in expert-facilitated DEIR conversations to advance DEIR within our section, and specifically within our section leadership. We are unaware of other local section-driven DEIR initiatives of this scope and depth. MEMBER ENGAGEMENT: Consistent with our 5 year strategy, we looked for additional ways to engage our membership. Last year, only 48 people voted; a vanishingly small 2.7% of the membership during the local section elections. Led by our secretary Tyler Kinner, custom printed postcards were designed and mailed out to each member while the election was open. Each postcard included a QR code leading to the on-line voting page, and carried the recipient’s membership number near their address (just like on the C&EN address label) so that it was easy for the member to enter on their mobile device. This initiative increased our election voters to 66, a 38% increase, bringing our voting rate to 3.9% overall in 2021. We will be looking closely at our communications methods as part of our 5-year strategy and further improve our outreach. Once an interest to become more involved in section activities was established, new volunteers were engaged promptly and repeatedly. This went a long way to sharing the load of the various activities and events put on by the section. Indeed, we were able to source a new co-chair to help lead our National Chemistry Olympiad participation, additional volunteers to assist with strategic initiatives, and we even sent a new volunteer to the leadership institute this year. In total, 12 new volunteers were engaged in 2021, allowing us to schedule volunteers in shifts to attend the ACS Fall Meeting host section desk.

UNPLANNED TRANSITION OF CHAIR ELECT: Both her late-stage pregnancy and the subsequent infant care following the birth of her son Gus in April severely limited the scope of Stephanie Kofsky-Woffard’s ability to execute her duties as our 2021 Chair Elect. Stephanie has always been a cheerful, optimistic, and enthusiastic volunteer for the section. She previously served as section secretary, and championed our annual Bond-B-Que science event for young children. Stephanie’s divided attention during 2021 illuminated that, despite best intentions, she would be unable to lead as chair of the section. Managing family commitments is clearly where one should prioritize when blessed with a new baby, and so in this regard, the executive committee supported Stephanie’s decision to gracefully pass the baton to first runner up, Dr. Manju Venugopal in early November. Manju grabbed the bull by the horns with both hands and has already been organizing events. She became section chair in January. We thank Stephanie for her contribution, and look forward to her continued support as a section volunteer. IN CONCLUSION, I am honored to work with such a committed team as the Georgia local section volunteers. I'm optimistic that we will continue to thrive and grow as the chair roll passes to Manju Venugopal, as she and future chairs continue to execute on our five year strategy. Jason Lye jlye@acsga.org

Nomination

The Local Section (LS) Outstanding Performance (OP) ChemLuminary Award is given annually to a local section in each section size category by the Local Section Activities Committee. This award recognizes the most outstanding performance of a LS in a particular size category in supporting ACS, its section members, students, the public, the education enterprise, industry, other ACS sections, other professional societies, and partnering organizations. The review is based solely on the LS FORMS annual report (AR), considering primarily the summary self-nomination statement below and the summary descriptions contained within Events, Activities, and Meetings. Other performance indicators may include administrative (e.g. participation in elections) and financial (e.g. sound budgetary policy) aspects. Timely submission of your administration and financial forms is a major factor in the evaluation of your LS for the Outstanding Performance Award.

- No

Please provide a summary self-nomination statement of 500-word or less. The summary statement should highlight local section's activities to support your nomination.

An unplanned Chair-Elect resignation was mitigated when the runner-up took the reigns. I’m very grateful for all of the efforts and hard work put forward by the local section volunteers, and have been honored to serve in the role of chair.
